HIGH SCHOOL OPENING.

Public to Inspect Fine New Building Thursday Evening, March 4th.

The formal opening of the new Windham High school building has been definitely set for the evening of Thursday, March 4th, This was de-cided upon Eriday afternoon by the cided upon Friday afternoon by the building committee and town, school committee. The plans for the evenings entertainment have been left to Principal E. A. Case, in conjunction with C. C. Helmold, director of the upandolln club, and Charles H. Caswell, musical instructor at the high school

The general plans include music by the Girls' Glee club, and by the W. H. S. orchestra, and an address by Chairman George F. Taylor of the building committee. The teachers at the institution will be in their respective rooms during the evening, to explain the work and conjument of their dethe work and equipment of their departments.

There will be a basketball game in the gymnasium between two teams of the school, relay races and other sports and it is expected that the younger members of the gathering will have dancing later in the evening. The building will not be formally turned over to the town, on account of the over to the town, on account of the suits pending in connection with the receivership of the Fenton company, builders, and the effect such a formal transfer might have on the town's Srights in the matter.

Suit Over Building of Wall.

Dan Galitelli & Co. of this city on Friday instituted suit through their attorney, P. J. Danahoy, against S. Elkin of North Westchester, for $82, the balance claimed to be due them for services in the construction of a well on the defendant's premises. The case is returnable before Justice Charles A, Capen of this city on Monday, March 8th.

Over half of the accidents reported, settlements effected, and findings handed down by the office, came from New Lendon county last year, and this seems to be a sufficient reason for the contemplated removal. Were it almost any time of the day when he is in Norwich, there would have been a considerable number of complaints from that vicinity over the location of the office in this city.

A good number was present at the Congregational church house Friday evening at the illustrated lecture on Belgium, the Battlefield of Europe, de-Belgium, the Battlefield of Europe, de-livered by George N. Cross, M. A.

The lecture, upon such a timely subject, was presented by Mr. Cross as the result of two summers' travel in the plucky little country, at which time he took many photographs, which were used in illustrating his talk.

The lecturer gave a historical sketch of the Netherlands, from the time of their former struggles against the tyr-their former struggles against the tyr-anny of Philip of Spain and the Duke of Alva, down to the present gigantic conflict, showing that Belgium was the natural lighting ground for the whole of eastern Europe. The cus-toms and characteristics of the sturdy race were well described, as were their varied industries and pursuits, and the talk proved highly entertaining. The evening's entertainment was un-der the direction of a committee of which Mrs. C. C. Case was the chairman. The proceeds went to the fund for the women's symmasium at the
